EDMONTON REPORT

By Donald F. Smith
Special Correspondent

EDMONTON — The first provincial deficit in several years in Alberta was announced in the legislature last Friday as Hon. C. E. Gerhart, the new provincial treasurer, brought in his budget calling for total spending of $222,963,072 in the fiscal year beginning April 1st.

More than $18,000,000 more than the estimated spending for the current fiscal year, the expenditures include $34,400,000 for education, $16,511,875 for highways and $23,111,900 for public health.

The actual operating deficit expected is $2,500,000, but because of statutory appropriations of $43,000,000 for municipal, rural power, government telephones and home-aid loans, the government says it will have to take $45,500,000 from surpluses built up in past years.

The budget had a strong theme of assistance to education as the government's 1955 answer to continued pleas of municipalities for greater outright assistance.

Total school grants are up $11,600,000 at $29,360,000 and include $18,160,000 to be distributed as operation grants on a special formula; $4,500,000 for capital construction grants and $6,600,000 for a new school tax reduction subsidy grant.

To qualify for the subsidy grant, school boards will have to ask the municipality or county for less money than they did in 1954, and will have to keep down their rate for operational purposes to not more than 25 mills. If a board has to increase its requisition this year, the government is prepared to pay up to 30 per cent of any increase not exceeding five mills on current assessment.

A new policy, under which the provincial treasury will purchase school debentures and charge low interest rates, is expected to see the school boards receive $9,000,000 in loans this year and the government hopes, no board will have to borrow on the open market.

While the expenditures for new highway construction are slightly lower than for the current fiscal year, grants for district highways and local roads are up $1,300,000 for a total of $7,925,000. The increase is all in a special contingency fund, presumably to be used to aid districts in special need.

In the field of health, major increases are $1,200,000 for government contributions to prepaid medical insurance; $1,436,000 in the per-patient-day grant to hospitals and increases in the government contribution to the provincial municipal hospitalization scheme. Revenues are up from $151,973,865 estimated for the current year to $171,875,115 for 1955-56 and more than one-third of it will come from the revenue sources of the mines and minerals department.

Included in the $68,000,000 this department expects to receive are these amounts: $26,000,000 from the sale of oil and gas leases and reservations on crown lands; $13,500,000 from oil and gas rentals and fees, and $17,500,000 from royalties.

The provincial government also expects to receive $33,100,000 from the rental of certain tax fields to the federal government, $19,500,000 from fuel oil tax and $15,500,000 from liquor.

As announced earlier by the government, homesteaders are to receive assistance in breaking and clearing new land. Mr. Gerhart said Friday this will be done under a homestead lease revolving loan fund, which will begin at $1,000.00. Loans will be restricted to a maximum of $1,000 each and applications will be considered by a board to be appointed by the cabinet.

The decrease in the spending of the highways department is the result of plans to do less new construction on main highways. The appropriation for bridge construction, however, is up $500,000 at a total of $5,000,000.

The total planned expenditures are $4,500,000 to $7,000,000 less than many were forecasting but it is understood considerable last-minute paring took place.

Information has been received at the County office regarding the route to be followed by the proposed new feeder gas line from Pincher Creek to Bassano, where it will connect with the main line.

Starting at Lathom, south of Pincher Creek, the line will run close to Fort MacLeod and continues in a north-easterly direction, crossing the Alderidge railway at a point just south of Peacock Siding. It continues in a straight line to cross Lake McGregor at the narrows near the Lomond bridge and strikes just south of Armada on the route to Lathom.

At its nearest point, the 22-inch pipeline will be about 20 miles from Vulcan and at Peacock Siding is a few miles farther away.

Just what bearing the new gas pipeline will have in making it possible for Carmangay, Champion and Vulcan to get natural gas remains to be seen.

Regular Meeting Reid Hill W.I.

The March meeting of the Reid Hill W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Agnes McKay last Wednesday, with 13 members and five visitors present. Roll call was answered with "An Irish Story."

An interesting reading of an article from the Federated W.I. Paper was read by Mrs. Percy Myers.

The members were favored by a highly interesting and well delivered talk on "Alberta's Golden Jubilee, and some of the early history and development of the province," by Miss Gerry McKay. Gerry proved herself well informed and a capable speaker.

Bernoe-Gowan Rites at Revelstoke

St. Peter's Church, Revelstoke, was the scene of a pretty afternoon wedding on Saturday, Feb. 5, when Patricia Blanche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gowan of Revelstoke, became the bride of Raul Gaston Bernoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Bernoe of Copenhagen, Denmark.

The bride, whose marriage was solemnized on her birthday, was charmingly gowned in a ballerina length dress of white net over a lace panel in the front of the skirt matching the bolero jacket with sleeves on point over the hands and a tiny stand-up collar. Her fingertip veil of embroidered net fell from a coronet of tiny lilies made of net and pearl, and she wore the grooms gift of pearls.

Her Colonial bouquet was fashioned of deep red roses and white carnations, and she carried a white prayerbook. She was attended by Miss Rose Kulchyski, gowned in ballerina length blue net over satin with a matching tiara. Her bouquet was white carnations and she wore dainty gold earrings in the shape of a cross, which were the gift of the groom.

Fred Chapman was best man, and the guests were ushered to

Legionaires Stay On Winning Streak

(Contributed)

The Vulcan Legionaires ran their winning streak to six straight by edging the Lethbridge Army 5 to 3 at the Vulcan Arena Saturday night.

In a fast game featuring end to end rushes by both clubs, the Legionaires took the lead at the two minute mark in the first period, and never looked back although the score was tied 3 times.

Jerry Smith again starred in the Vulcan goal as he came up with numerous saves bordering on the impossible.

Vulcan scorers were Pat Walker, Garvin, Jordan, Kehr and LaRoche. Vulcan Line-up: Smith; Garvin, Giong; LaRoche, P. Walker, Mensinger, Jordan, Kehr, Roebuck, A. Walker, Larkins.

They called it the game of the season and those who attended are all in agreement. What game? The Broomball game in which the local Lions Club were drubbed by the Legionaires by a humiliating score of 3 to 2; this in overtime, no less.

Those in the know say this would never have happened, it would have been a tie but Lion (pardon us) time-keeper, Stan Scales forgot to ring the bell before the last goal.

Anyhow Stan has been promoted to referee for next year, when, the Lions say, we will play our rules and then see who wins!

Getting Closer

Natural gas service for Carmangay, Champion and Vulcan is by no means assured simply by the fact that the export feeder pipeline from Pincher to Bassano will pass within a very few miles of Carmangay.

Building a branch line to service these three towns would be up to the gas company or some other private company and comes down to a straight dollars-and-cents proposition. Is the population that could be served by such a branch line sufficient to make the project economically sound? Rates would have to be sufficiently low to induce every householder and businessman to change over his present heating system but, at the same time, high enough to not only pay for the service but to justify the substantial capital expenditure involved in building the branch line. The cost of building the line would have to be recovered, over a period of years, from the consumers.

Further information on this matter is being sought and, most certainly, the three towns most directly concerned should do all in their power to have the situation fully investigated, with a view to obtaining natural gas service for their residents.

There is one other possibility which, if it materializes would assure natural gas service for the Aldersyde line towns. That possibility is the construction of a pipeline from Calgary to tap the 22-inch export feeder line from Pincher to Bassano. The natural route for such a line, in that it is the shortest and at the same time would serve several towns, is from Calgary and through Blackie, Brant, Vulcan, Champion and Carmangay.

In that such a line would be constructed primarily to augment Calgary's gas supply, the total cost would not be chargeable to the users enroute, making a considerable difference in the rates that would be charged.

SERVICE BOARD NOTES

H. S. Burns, Field Supervisor

The rat invasion into Alberta is being held in check near the eastern border but this pest has been found further north along the border north of the north Saskatchewan river, the Alta. Government now has four full time Pest Control Officers along the eastern boundary making farm to farm checks and controlling the spread of rats further west.

Water source "Warfarin" is now available as well as the dry material and they can be used singly or in conjunction with one another, if both are used it hastens the demise of the rat as they get it in both the food and drink. This poison is a slow painless poison which causes internal bleeding and must be ingested at least five times before it becomes fatal. It is very easy to prepare and these rodents do not seem to realize they are being tricked until it is too late.

There are other poisons that are recommended to the inexperienced such as Red Squill, Antu, and Pival but these are more trouble to prepare than Warfarin and rats are apt to get a dislike for some of them.

We have at our office a supply of Warfarin in the dry form and also a small quantity of the water soluble, but hope we do not have to use it in this area. We would like to caution everyone to keep a sharp lookout for signs of this pest, so that measures can be taken to combat them if they ever make their appearance in this part of the province.

IN MEMORIAM

MATLOCK — In loving memory of Ft. Sergeant Elmer Keith Matlock, missing from a flight over Verdun, France, March 8, 1916. Twelve sad years have passed. Since our great sorrow fell. The shock that we received that day. We still remember well. How his life was shed we know not. What his last word, look or thought. Only that he did his duty. Died as he bravely fought. Ever remembered by his Mom, Dad, Sister and Brother.

Let's take a peek at my WAGES

Next time you get the bill for my SERVICE, think of yourself as an employer and of me as your hired hand working long hours for low wages. Then compare what you slip in my pay envelope with the cost of everything else you buy today.

Not bad, huh! For example: In 1930 my average wage (price of 1 kilowatt hour of electric service) was 25c an hour — TODAY it is only about 3c an hour!

Now there's a record I'm proud of — especially when you consider that my pay is not just for lighting — it's not a LIGHT bill, as some folks call it — I do scores of chores. Yep, electric service is the only thing that's cheaper than ever!

Diane suffered no serious effects, although it was sub-zero weather, excepting being a very wet, frightened little girl.

Forsyth - Volk

A mid-day wedding ceremony in the Cardston Temple was chosen by Miss June Doreen Volk for her marriage to Bryce Forsyth, on Wednesday, February 23. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Volk of Carmangay and the groom is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Forsyth of Cardston. President L. D. Cahoon performed the ceremony in the presence of immediate relatives.

The bride was lovely in a floor length white taffeta gown. The moulded bodice of chantilly lace with long peplum, beaded pearls down the front of the bodice, and collar, and lily-point sleeves was exquisitely made by the bride. Her floor length illusion net veil fell from a coronet beaded pearl head-dress and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white tea streamers. The gift of the groom to the bride was a three strand pearl necklace.

The bridesmaid was Miss Edna Marie Smith of Calgary. She was gown in turquoise blue taffeta with illusion net. Her head-dress was a pretty pink flower bandeau and she carried a beautiful nosegay of pink carnations.

Flower girl was Miss Linda Volk sister of the bride, dressed in a pretty rose taffeta floor length dress. She carried a rainbow flower nosegay.

Page boy was Master Mario Griffin of Champion, cousin of the bride. Bill Barrus was best man.

For her daughter's wedding, the bride's mother chose a navy blue dress with white and navy accessories, and a corsage of talisman roses. The groom's mother wore a navy dress with navy and white accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

A reception for 60 guests was held in the evening at the L.D.S. Recreation Hall, Champion. The hall was beautifully decorated in pink and white streamers and tall baskets of beautiful flowers decorated the hall for the occasion.

Miss Mirra Smith, of Carmangay, Carolyn Smith, Rita Smith, Marilyn Smith, Sheila Puzey, Beverley Burns and Carol Smith were the servers.

The bride's cake was embedded in smilax and tall pink lighted towers were very decorative for the bride's table.

The guest book was in charge of Mrs. Frank Griffin, Mrs. Elva Smith and Mrs. Walter Griffin were in charge of the many lovely gifts.

Scott Forsyth was master of ceremonies for the program which consisted of: Vocal duets, Jake and Jim Whitehead of Calgary; Piano solos, Miss Marilyn Neubaur of Calgary; A reading, Mrs. Milo Forsyth of Calgary; Piano music selections during dinner, Mrs. Fay Smith of Carmangay Vocal duet by Mrs. Fred Smith and Mrs. Bill Gray of Carmangay. The toast to the bride was given by Frank Griffin. The groom very ably responded. The bridal party and friends and neighbors motored to Carmangay for the wedding dance in the evening.

The bride's going away outfit was a jade green knitted suit, with a rose coral top coat and black accessories. Her corsage was of talisman roses. The honeymoon was spent in points in Southern Alberta. The happy couple will make their home in Calgary.

Cash sale accounted for 688 cents of the average Canadian retail consumer dollar in the first quarter of 1954.

Public Health in Alberta

From 1905 to 1918 Public Health was a branch of the Department of Agriculture. It was then transferred to the Department of the Provincial Secretary, and later that same year was again transferred to the Department of Municipal Affairs. Finally in 1919 the Department of Health was created and given responsibility for administering all legislation relating to health.

The Department of Public Health now consists of fifteen divisions, each responsible for its own special field. The divisions and chief functions of each are as follows:

1. Public Health Education. This division encourages better health practices among the people by means of literature, lectures, radio programs, motion pictures and film strips.

2. Communicable Diseases. The purpose of this division is to record the incidence of communicable diseases within the Province and to advise and assist local health authorities on the most effective methods of prevention and control.

3. Entomology. This division was established in 1944 for the control of insect-borne diseases. It makes surveys of spotted fever, plague, tularemia and encephalomyelitis.

4. Hospital and Medical Services. Responsibilities of this branch include payments of hospital grants, supervision of hospitals, payment of maternity hospitalization, hospitalization of various pensioners, mothers' allowance recipients and the dependents in these groups. Training of nursing aides is also supervised by the division as well as the organization and general supervision of municipal hospitals. This division also supervises the hospital insurance program of the province which is sometimes called the "dollar a day" program.

5. Provincial Laboratories. Well equipped laboratories are maintained at Edmonton and Calgary. Services are available to all doctors, hospitals and Boards of Health in the Province. Serums and vaccines are distributed from these centres and various examinations and analyses are conducted for the detection and control of disease.

6. Mental Health. Mental hospitals under the direction of this division provide scientific medical and nursing care for the mentally ill. Guidance clinics help to solve behavioral and emotional problems in both children and adults and thus prevent mental ill health.

7. Social Hygiene. By the operation of clinics and by means of lectures, this division seeks to cure and control venereal diseases.

8. Tuberculosis Division. This provides free diagnostic and treatment service for all tuberculosis cases. Mobile X-ray units periodically survey the entire population of the Province. Modern sanatoria are maintained near Calgary and Edmonton.

9. Cancer. Three diagnostic clinics are maintained to which suspected cancer sufferers are referred by their family physicians. Diagnosis, radium, X-ray and surgical treatment as well as treatment by a Cobalt "bomb" are provided at government expense.

10. Cerebral Palsy. Since 1950 diagnostic and treatment clinics have been provided to sufferers at government expense.

11. Rheumatoid Arthritis Clinics. Services provided here include 90 days free hospitalization and treatment to Albertans up to 25 years of age.

12. Sanitary Engineering Division. protects public health by supervision of water supplies and sewage disposal systems. Hotels, restaurants, slaughter houses and dairies are inspected in those parts of the province not provided with this service by their local health departments.

13. Nutrition. This division, formed in 1947, conducts educational work for better eating habits and more nourishing diets.

14. Vital Statistics Division. records all births, marriages and deaths.

15. Public Health Nursing Division. organizes the health program of rural communities. Prevention of disease is the keynote, with special emphasis being placed on pre-natal and post-natal care, immunization and school health supervision.

Edmonton Report

By Donald F. Smith
Special Correspondent

EDMONTON — Report of the Alberta Research Council's special seven-man fluoridation committee indicates that overwhelming scientific evidence in favor of using fluorine in public water supplies to reduce tooth decay left the committee no alternative but to register its "unqualified endorsement" of the procedure for Alberta communities.

The report, two years in the making, was issued by Highways Minister Gordon E. Taylor, who is research council chairman.

Mr. Taylor said the government plans no immediate action on the report. Undoubtedly there will be considerable discussion about it in the forthcoming legislature.

With so many Alberta towns now equipped with their own waterworks systems, it would seem particularly profitable for citizens to investigate the research council's findings and weigh them against the arguments being voiced against fluoridation.

It is not too early for this, even if it is some time before smaller centres are in a position to install the necessary equipment. The committee suggested fluoridation start only as soon as qualified engineers of the provincial health board are prepared to give adequate supervision.

At the same time the committee notes: "From an economic, as well as a health viewpoint, there is a great loss by allowing endless investigations to delay the application of fluoridation as a preventive health measure. It is estimated that for every dollar spent on fluoridation, $60 to $70 will be saved in dental treatment."

Little cost is involved, the committee says, and for most communities would run 10 to 20 cents per person per year for equipment and chemicals. No increase in waterworks staff is required.

Some Albertans already are drinking water which contains as much or more fluorine as experience shows is necessary to give maximum protection against tooth decay. In some areas, the water contains less or no fluorine.

Before fluoridation for any specific town's system begins, a check of the natural fluorine content would be made to determine whether it was sufficient or needed augmenting to bring it to the best level. As to suggestions the addition of fluorides to the water is not the same as when the water contains natural fluorides, the committee states: "It must be emphasized the fluorides added when water is fluoridated are of like properties — both physical and chemical — as those that occur in naturally fluoridated water." It adds that in cities where fluoridation has been introduced — and there are more than 1,000 in the U. S. and Canada — there have been no complaints of significance from industrial users of the water and no harm to lawns and plants has been seen. Taste of the water is not affected.

The committee maintains: "Fluoridation does not represent involuntary mass medication as fluorine does not exert any therapeutic action. It does not bring about repair of damage already done by tooth decay."

"Actually all that is proposed is that the concentration of a substance naturally present in the water supply shall be increased to a level which has been demonstrated to be optional for dental health. Such a procedure is neither more nor less than the addition of Vitamin A to butter or to margarine or the addition of Vitamin B Complex members to flour."

The report also states that on the basis of analyses of foods containing fluorides, it has been determined the normal intake on a balanced diet is not enough to combat decay and that water is a more important source of fluorine.

It also says the amount which would be used is so much less than the amount which could do harm it is inconceivable anyone will suffer ill effects. For instance, actual experiments were conducted giving adults four doses of 80 milligrams of sodium fluoride a day and children 3½ to six years, 20 to 50 milligrams. There was no evidence of poisoning.

Compare these daily totals — 80 to 320 milligrams — with the 3.2 to 1.6 milligrams which would be consumed by persons drinking water with the amount of fluorine suggested and you can see little reason for concern.

There also is no evidence, the committee says, that indicates a person would be harmed by the continued drinking of fluoridated water.

With the publication of the report, it can be expected that well-meaning but misinformed opponents of fluoridation; will increase their efforts. In some areas they have gone to fantastic lengths to defeat the proposed fluoridation of water and in too many cases have succeeded.

We understand some opponents sincerely believe it is a plot by communists or other subversive agents to undermine the nation's health. Others see a danger that saboteurs would be able to cripple a city's water supply by dumping excess quantities of fluorides from the fluoridation apparatus.

The answer to the latter is that the amount of fluorides which probably would be available at the water-treatment station would not be enough to cause mottling of the citizen's teeth. Mottling occurs where there is an over-concentration of fluorides in the drinking water but other than the unsightliness there is no other damage to the teeth or any other part of the body, according to scientific researchers.

The three main arguments put up against fluoridation are that fluorides are poisons; that the whole thing still is in the experimental stage and invades individuals' rights.

First of all, fluorides are poisons but in the small amounts to be used have definitely been proven beneficial and indeed are found in varying quantities, usually too small for benefit, in many foods. As to still being an experiment, those in favor of it, point out many persons are drinking water which is naturally fluoridated and continued examination and study have pointed to this as the reason they have fewer dental difficulties.

In addition, controlled experiments in actual cities have, even carried out including Brantford, Ont., where the water has been fluoridated and annual dental examinations carried out to check results since, 1945. In connection with the third objection, proponents say the benefits to be had outweigh such a consideration.

HOW TO BE HAPPY

A distinguished British philosopher once said that the reason it takes more skill to be happy now is that there is so much change. Once, the world in which a man grew old was not very different from that in which he had been young. But this is no longer the case.

While I am by no means ready to curl up my toes, I have seen a great number of changes — the automobile, radio, television, the A-bomb and the H-bomb all arrived during my lifetime. I can remember the day when a lamplighter went around my small town putting his torch to the gas lights. I can remember when gas was taken from my own house, when I was a very small child, and electric wiring installed to replace it. The philosopher is quite right in stating that this is a time of great changes — but I think he is all wrong in attributing unhappiness to this change.

I rate myself as a happy man. I think I am happy because I welcome change. This column is dictated onto a fancy new type of dictaphone and I'm getting as much kick out of it as a child with a new toy.

The same philosopher blamed a good deal of unhappiness on the spirit of competition that exists in the world. Again, I think he is a bit off. A great deal of my own happiness comes from competing. Maybe I don't compete with Hemingway — but I do compete with myself, by trying to improve my work little by little. Competition maybe a terrible thing if you fear it; but it is a delightful thing if you accept it and enter into it.

I have noticed that those who disdain to compete are the gloomy and dissatisfied ones. The fellow who rolls up his sleeves and gets into the game wholeheartedly, wins or loses, gets quite a bit of fun out of it.

Maybe I should leave the problem of how to be happy to the philosophers. I don't know. I've seen a lot of pictures of philosophers and they were a sad and sorry lot. I think my advice ought to be just as good as theirs. To be happy, dig in and do your best, win or lose, for all you are worth. Work all you can, gain all you can, give all you can. Stop worrying; and start working!

Germination Tests

A great number of farmers have asked for official germination tests for grain to be used on their own farm or to be sold as seed. This interest is certainly to be commended. However there are so many samples being submitted to the Plant Products Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture at Calgary, that there is an unavoidable delay before results of the official test can be forwarded. It should be remembered that this is the only recognized official test. All those who wish to sell grain for seed should by all means obtain an official germination test, the percentage of which is given on the Control Sample Certificate. The cost of this test is 75 cents, a money order for this amount payable to the Receiver General should be included with one pound of sample when it is forwarded.

For those who are apprehensive about seed to be used on their own farm, a home germination test will give a reasonably accurate result. The usual practice is to use 100 seed counts, in duplicate, or more. The average of the separate tests is then used in determining the percentage germination.

Clean blotting paper, absorbent cotton, paper towels, or cloth may be used to hold the seeds. Place 100 seeds on the material selected and cover with the same kind of material. Place on a large dinner plate and cover with another one. Sand may also be used for testing seeds.

The seeds to be tested should be placed where the temperature is fairly uniform and is between 65 and 85 degrees.

Sprouts should not be removed, and counted before they are large enough to determine if they are healthy, and appear capable of developing into useful plants.

High costs pushed most imported wool clothes into the so-called "special" bracket whereby they enter Canada under greatly reduced duty benefits to the detriment of the Canadian textile industry.

A CANADIAN CITY HAS BEEN

Wiped out...

During the past 20 years, automobile accidents have taken the lives of 37,000 Canadians — the entire population of a fair-sized city. A half-million more have been injured.

To meet the staggering cost of traffic accidents, the automobile insurance business this year will pay out more than $80,000,000. Beyond this, insurance companies will do everything possible to stem the rising toll of automobile accidents — by offering the safe driving incentive of lower insurance premiums for accident-free car owners and through safety work and public education aimed at making drivers more aware of the perils of modern-day motoring.
